

A NEW KIND OF HOME INVASION

Police Services across Alberta receive numerous complaints in relation to excessive noise in urban areas involving engine brakes. Truck drivers may consider the engine brake just part of their daily routine without giving much thought to the disruption it causes to residents of the area. Most major centres and smaller urban areas clearly post signage prohibiting or restricting the use of engine brakes.

The province of Alberta is requesting operators of heavy vehicles to show consideration for residents by not using their engine brakes in urban areas.
